DELAWARE CANDIDATE FAVORITE FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Louisville, July 8.—The eighth annual meeting of the Kentucky State Bar Association will be held in Louisville for two days, beginning today and it is expected that fully 200 members of the association from various sections of the State will attend, in addition to the Louisville members. This will be the third session that has been held in Louisville since the organization, the constitution providing that the association shall meet in this city every fourth year.

The officers of the association residing in Louisville have made preparations to entertain the visiting delegates, and the programme for the two days includes some of the best known speakers among the legal fraternity in Kentucky. The sessions will be held in the joint session room at the Jefferson county courthouse, and the social features at the Seelbach.

Chief officers of the association are: T. Kennedy Helm, Louisville, president, and Edward J. McFerrott, Louisville, vice president of this district.

Messrs A. H. Anderson, R. M. Fairleigh and J. W. Adams are at Red Boiling Springs.

Denver, July 8.—The adoption of the reports of the committees on credentials, organization and resolutions was the feature of to-day's convention. Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, was made permanent chairman and the other temporary officers were made permanent. Ballotting will begin to-morrow. Bryan will be named on the first ballot. Gray will be named for Vice President unless he refuses to take it. The platform will be clear cut and unequivocal.

Auditorium, Denver, Colo., July 8.—The Democracy of the east and west Tuesday joined hands within the shadow of the snow-clad Rockies to name candidates for president and vice president, and to formulate a set of policies upon which to appeal to the voters of the nation.

For the first time in its history the party had recognized the claims the far west in the selection of a meeting place. Denver, justly proud of the honor conferred upon her, had provided a brand new auditorium, the best equipped of its kind in America. The building cost the tax payers of the city $600,000. In addition, they subscribed to a fund of $100,000 for the entertainment of the delegates and other visitors.

CONVENTION ECHOES.

Higher Side of the Republican National Assemblage.

BACK OF HIRTSU ADORNMENT

Notable Absence of Whiskers Among Delegates Who Went to Chicago. Kentucky Took Up With Wisconsin Because It's "We"!—Blaine Club's Elephant Took the Cake.

"The national Republican convention of 1908," said Perry Heath, formerly assistant postmaster general, "will be known undoubtedly as the whiskers convention."

Mr. Heath was right. Looking over the convention while assembled in the Chicago Coliseum one morning, he said to a friend, "Men with whiskers abounding." In the whole national committee there were only five, and they affected, with one exception, not the full beard, but a sort of goatee growth that they smoothed with a lingering tenderness. In the convention itself there were more than thirty of the delegates who had brought their whiskers with them.

"That man back there," remarked Thomas F. Shipp, who is connected with the forestry service in Washington and who hails from Indiana, "reminds me of the man of whom we hear the story, who announced his ability to tell by the appearance alone the state whence every male passenger came. He walked up to a man who was well dressed and said to him, 'You are from New York.' Right, was the reply. 'A lanky passenger, with a thin mustache, a boy covered with mud.' Let me see," he said, "you are hard to guess, but I think you come from Indiana." "Wrong there, partner," was the response. "Probably I fooled you because I have just passed through a heavy spell of yellow jadience."

Wisconsin's Headquarters. A refreshment emporium just opposite the Coliseum had a strip of canvas above its threshold declaring that it was Wisconsin's headquarters. "We're in the middle of the country," said a delegate from the northern state of the white aproned proprietor, who busily motored, foaming glasses across the bar.

"None," replied the thrice, allaying personage, "I was born in Kentucky."

"Then why this declaration of allegiance to Wisconsin?"

"Well, you could follow to what Kentucky romped into the white ribbon brigade?" came the explanatory query.

"Once I ketch a fish up in one of them Wisconsin lakes, and I know every fisherman likes good 'bait'!"

Me! The "we" crowd.

"Boss" is the name of the motto among Chicago cabmen during the convention. Besides driving the trusting stranger several times around the same block, with the fell design of making him believe that he had ridden for miles, they had not the slightest difficulty in getting "regulars" in the most matter of fact way.

Colonel Pete Hopkins got in a cab the other day and drove five blocks. When he descended he asked the fare. "Two dollars," was the answer. "What for?" asked "Uncle Pete."

"A dollar for the distance and a dollar for the time I spent around the cabby."

"My time isn't worth a penny around here," answered the Iowa statesman, and he gave cabby four quarters.

A page had a telegram for Jonah Kalanalaone, the delegate from Hawaii, and he went into the lobby grumbling about the telephonists for some minutes. The first time it was called the buzz of conversation perceptibly diminished and in a few moments ceased altogether, while the page still repeated the chant. One of the delegates from the west was dozing in his lounge corner, but suddenly awoke with a start and said:

"What's that boy saying? I thought it was some of those Chicago students giving their college yell."

Parade Led by Baby Elephant.

A baby elephant that the James G. Blaine Marching club of Cleveland sent to the national to be in its procession broke into an aisle to take part in the parade and was making prodigious strides toward clearing out the aisle department before his keepers could drive him out of the shop. The baker had been trying to collect for the pies and other edibles appropriated by the elephant.

A Woman Delegate.

For the first time in the history of national conventions a woman had a place among the regular delegates to the Republican national. She is Mrs. La M. Lacy of Clark of Utah and attracted more attention than any other delegate. There were several women among the alternates.

An Old Time Usher.

One of the ushers in the convention was Peter M. Balken, who was an usher in the Wigwam convention of 1890, at which Abraham Lincoln was elected.

BLUE GRASS EDITOR

Falls in Love With the Pennsylvania District.

At the famous Cerulean Springs we found an ideal summer resort, says Green R. Keller in the Carlisle Mercury. Commodious hotel building set on a hill where delightful breezes play with the foliage of beautiful shade trees and fan away the heat and worry from the assembled multitudes who have discovered one of the most delightful spots on the earth. The water is noted for its health giving properties and we can testify as to its beneficial results on a disordered digestive apparatus. The hotel is presided over by an ideal Summer Resort Landlord—Capt. R. S. Pool—an old Confederate soldier, a man of anagnosy, a judge of human nature and a genuine Kentucky gentleman. He has as a partner a splendid woman who makes a success the culinary department by attending to it closely and never interfering with the Captain and his department. We only wish we were near enough to visit them often.

While spending the week in that section we were invited to visit Hopkinsville and accept the hospitality of that flourishing inland city. Our readers know little of "Hoptown." Well, we tell you she is the real thing. A sure enough live business place with enough magnificent human realm. It is there that the great Mogul Wagon Works are situated. There are other big things about Hopkinsville, but the "Mogul" is the biggest and we don't see how it could be the "Mogul" and be otherwise. This concern turns out 12,000 completed wagons every year.

Hopkinsville has the finest hotel of any inland city in the State—the Latham. She has the safest banks and many other good things—not to mention Mayor Meacham, Tom Underwood and Will Wilgus, old newspaper men and up-to-date orators and entertainers. The Press of Kentucky never had a more strenuously delightful time for twelve hours than Hopkinsville gave. We were entertained handsomely and frequently.

HINTS TO DELEGATES

Doctor's Caution For Democratic National Conventions.

HOW TO KEEP IN GOOD TRIM

Early to Bed One Rule For Visitors to Denver—Any Form of Excess at a High Altitude May Send Physical Weakness to a Hospital.

Attention to his physical condition, avoidance of mental and bodily fatigue, careful regulation of his diet, including drinking—these are some of the things the delegate to the Democratic national convention must take into consideration if he would preserve his normal degree of health while they remain in Denver. Will he be careful?

"He will not," emphatically declared a Tammany man the other day, and added: "Ever attend a national convention? No? I thought not, for no one who had would ask how the delegates take care of themselves. There is too much excitement to think about rules of health. The individual delegate might be careful, but delegates collectively never."

"Still, it might be a good thing," he went on reflectively, "to caution the boys and tell them what to look out for when they visit an altitude they are not used to. Tammany braves are lusty trampers and flagoners, every one, and when 650 of them are gathered in one place for several days for political purposes, one is bound to follow, and large humps are the rule instead of the exception."

Dr. Henry S. Pascal of New York city, who has made a study of climatology, was asked by a New York Times reporter what the thousands of delegates to Denver must avoid and also keep in mind to maintain their normal physical conditions.

"There are certain classes of men," said Dr. Pascal, "who are affected by the sea level. By this I mean the sea level to an altitude of 5,000 feet. Denver is exactly one mile above the sea level, 5,280 feet. Persons with hardened arteries of any tendency to heart trouble or Bright's disease are apt to have acute attacks upon suddenly moving to high altitudes. Men of these types should avoid worry and excitement and should get plenty of sleep or it might go hard with them. They should avoid heavy eating as well as drinking heavily."

"Then there is the so called mountain fever, or mountain sickness, attending the acclimatization of the individual. This is the more or less severe according to the altitude and sometimes lasts for several days. It is accompanied by headache, nausea, gastro-intestinal disturbances and accelerated pulse and respiration. The rarefied air is responsible for these conditions, bringing about changes in the circulatory system. In Denver one breathes in 20 per cent less oxygen than at the sea level. This decrease in oxygen causes deeper breathing in order that the blood may get what it requires; deeper breathing causes greater muscular exertion. These are the symptoms of the so-called patients are manifested in Denver. But persons with incipient consumption who go to the Denver convention must be careful and take it easy until they are acclimated.

"Those with Bright's disease often have a hard time when they go into Denver, because of the sudden attacks of the disease often supervene, and the attacks are made worse, of course, by heavy eating and drinking.

"On the other hand, they get over the acclimatization period with comparatively trifling discomfort if they are careful about eating and drinking. Tuberculosis patients must be very careful about their diet, and should eat food and drink when they go to such an altitude as that of Denver if they would avoid acute attacks. If they become fatigued in the first few days of their residence in an altitude, continue to go hard with them.

"The gastro-intestinal disturbances that come on without apparent cause are often the result of which the patients must be attributed to the altitude.

" Elderly or old persons with hardened arteries or those who have at some period suffered slight attacks of paralysis actually run risks when they visit a place as high as Denver. Such persons especially must avoid fatigue for the first few days, and excessive eating and drinking are the very worst things for them.

"Acute Bright's disease is not common in Denver, but it is particularly severe there when it does occur. Stimulants are more likely to produce such physical disturbances than at the sea level.

"Another thing that those who propose to attend the Democratic convention would do well to bear in mind is that sleep is disturbed more easily at a high altitude by trivial causes and in those who are overworked mentally. Again, nervous persons are more apt to be disturbed in their sleep in Denver than at the sea level if they are physically overworked.

"Mountain sickness is undoubtedly attributable to less oxygen, and the resulting vascular changes are responsible for the acute attacks in those suffering from heart and kidney disease."

The physician pointed out that the gradual ascent of a mountain, on foot or horseback, instead of a rapid journey by train, allows the lungs to get used to the decrease in oxygen and thus lessened the period of acclimatization. This, of course, modifies the severity or does away entirely with mountain fever.

The Weather.

FOR KENTUCKY—Generally fair and warmer Thursday.

Madam Anna Gould was married
Tuesday in London to Prince De Sagan, by a registrar and later a religious ceremony was performed in a Lutheran church.

Paducah is in gala attire for the big meeting of the Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi Traveling Men's Association, which takes place Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
Between 2,000 and 3,000 visitors are expected.

The Nebraska Republicans are already scared out of their boots. A huge Taft banner has been strung across the street in Lincoln to stop the State pride that is surging strong for Bryan. Many Republicans are protesting against this as an act of courtesy to Bryan at this time.

Trey Woodson has been for the fourth time re-elected national committeeman for Kentucky, and when Bryan is elected something good will be in store for him. He will serve again as secretary of the national committee and will also be both temporary and permanent secretary of the 'Denver' convention.
Trey Woodson has never for a moment doubted that Bryan would sooner or later be President and 1908 is the good year in which his wishes will be fulfilled.

ABANDONMENT

Is Alleged in a Suit for Divorce from Wife.

J. T. Lane has filed suit here for divorce from his wife, Lula Lane.
They were married in Wilson county, Tenn., July 7, 1897. The defendant is now a resident of Tennessee. Plaintiff alleges abandonment. The case will be tried at the fall term of court.

Logan-Willis.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 6.—Emmett G. Logan, Jr., son of E. G.
Logan and Miss Ellie Willis were quietly married here late this afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, George Willis. The wedding was a complete surprise to everyone.
It was generally understood they were to be married in the fall, but the young people decided today to postpone the happy occasion no longer.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disorder, disease and infirmity for which there is no specific and that is Cataract. Half's Cataract Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession. Cataract being a constitutional disease, requires from time to time a change of climate. Cataract is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, merely destroying the foundation of the disease,
and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution. It is a simple, safe and effective cure. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send

INFLAMMATORY TALKS

Causes Another Outbreak In Calloway County.

Paducah, Ky., July 7.—With the withdrawal of the soldiers from west of the Tennessee river in Kentucky, night riders have been stirred by orators to demonstrations for the purpose of intimidating witnesses for the Commonwealth, and more than 200 shots were fired around the homes of Frank Mardis and Willie Dyer, in the eastern part of Calloway county,
Sunday night.

These men turned up the secrets of the night riders and identified members of the band. A campaign of speaking is in progress and some of the speakers have made no attempt to conceal their sympathy with lawlessness. It is probable that more soldiers will be sent into the disturbed districts and patrols along the Tennessee river will be resumed. The night riders' trials will be called at the August term of the Circuit Court.

STREET RAILWAY

Goess Into The Hands Of A Receiver.

Clarksville, Tenn., July 8.—The Clarksville Street Railway and Light Company went into the hands of a receiver on petition in the Federal Court at Nashville from the United States Trust Company, one of the largest creditors. The company controls the lighting and street railway franchises of the city and it is said the action was caused by a disagreement among the stockholders over the sale of the system to a Memphis syndicate, which has had a representative in Clarksville during the last ten days looking over the property.

AT CAMPBELL'S CAVE

Legal Fraternity Will Dis-

The Hopkinsville Bar Association is to-day enjoying a picnic at Campbell's Cave and for once are forgetting the contentions and rivalries of the forum. Besides a fine dinner, there is expected to be an equal flow of oratory, if the lawyers can be induced to overcome their modesty and make appropriate remarks.

cants for teachers' certificates, who were examined the last week in June, have been graded and certificates to those who were successful were issued this week. Of the twenty-six applicants only six passed. Four got third-class and two second-class.

Two applicants dropped out before the end of the first day's examination and eighteen failed. None got a first-class certificate. It is said that the examination was very hard, especially in arithmetic.

BRIDGE COMPLETED.

New Sidewalk on Seventh Street Bridge.

The Champion Bridge Company
yesterday finished the work of relaying the defective concrete sidewalk on the Seventh street bridge.

a sudden freeze. A tree fell by the Home Telephone Company in arranging a guy post near the bridge, seriously bent the outside rail and this damage will also be repaired as soon as possible.

THREE DROWN

In An Attempt To Ford The Barren River.

Scottsville, Ky., July 6.—"Hick" Walbert, wife and 3-year-old child, of Monroe county, were drowned at the passing ford of Barren River, just across in Monroe county, last Saturday morning. Mr. Walbert was teaching a singing school at E-non, Tenn., and was on his way to that place. The river was past ford-ing, but he undertook to cross rather than wait for the ferryman.

MRS. FRANK STROEBE*I was a nervous wreck.
I felt no desire to live.REMARKABLE RECOVERY,
THANKS TO PE-RU-NA.

Mrs. Frank Stroebel, R. E. D. Appleton, Wisc., writes:

"I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck, could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live.

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look like a new person. I am now able to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life.

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

This lady entirely recovered from a nervous condition, and did not go away to a sanitarium, and spent hundreds of dollars for a cure. She just staid at home, took Peruna, and in four months weighed more than ever in her life, had a splendid color, life looked bright to her. Peruna did all this for her. What more could be expected of this remedy?

BALD-HEADED CLUBHolds a Meeting For Re-organization Last Saturday Night*LOOKED LIKE OLD TIMES*Col. Green Champlin Elected President On a Harmony Platform.

There was an old-time gathering of bald heads at the re-organization meeting Saturday night.

The meeting was held in the fourth story hall of the Y. M. C. A. building, in the quiet hour following midnight.

As the elevator stopped running at midnight only those who arrived very early caught the last ascension.

The others cheerfully climbed the three flights of steps and uttered no word of complaint.

Col. Lem McKeel, Col. Buck Leavell and Col. Bill Tibbs exuded a few drops of perspiration, but arrived at the top without turning a hair.

Col. Bob Wooldridge and Col. George Randle, now a councilman, came in wreathed in smiles that spread over their faces and disappeared in the hairless plains on tops of their heads.

Col. Joe Twyman was there looking even younger than he did five years ago.

Col. Albert Kelly was in whistling "The Star Spangled Banner."

Col. Bill Cooper, Col. Walter Kelly, Col. Mike Kelly, Col. Press Richardson, Col. Chess Pyle, all were there ready for the time of their lives.

Col. B. B. Rice, Col. Tom Jones, Col. George Gary, Col. Jim West and others too numerous to mention answered to their names.

Col. Bob Wooldridge called the meeting to order and said that in reorganizing the Bald Headed Club, after an interval of three years, he begged that nothing be allowed to disturb the harmony.

Twenty years ago, he said, when Col. Lem McKeel was President, the Club was an honor to Kentucky and its fame extended far and wide.

Then came the time when ambition and thirst for power divided the brotherhood into fierce factions and finally it became necessary to take a long recess in order that the angry passions of the partisans of rival candidates might subside.

We are all back to-night with but one common purpose—to revive the good old times in a genuine love feast.

In this spirit of harmony, I want to place in nomination for President a man upon whom all can unite, a man bald in fact and bald at heart.

I ask that Col. Green Champlin be elected President and I hope to see him receive every vote.

He is outside in the ante-room, waiting for this honor to be thrust upon him, for "his modesty alone is equal to his merit."

The shouts of approval raised a tumult and a wave of enthusiasm swept over the assemblage that made it impossible to take a formal vote.

Col. Wooldridge named Col. Ed Gaither and Ben Armitage to find the new President and escort him to the chair and in an incredibly short while they returned bearing Col. Champlin upon their shoulders.

As he leaped gracefully to the floor, the silver hammer presented to him by the Knockers' Club fell from his pocket.

He picked up the souvenir and rapped for order upon the marble desk before him.

"Colonels," he began, "for once my eloquence fails me. I accept the office, but I am too much overcome with emotion to make a speech.

I have been Noble Grand of the Odd Fellows, I have been Chancellor Commander of the Pythians, I am now Exalted Ruler of the Elks, but more than all these honors, do I prize the laurel wreath of fame which you have encircled my bony to-night. I appreciate the honor so highly that I shall never miss a meeting and it would be a useless formality to elect a Vice President.

Therefore, for the present, I will not ask for the election of a Vice President.

What is the pleasure of people?

DIRECTNESS AND ACCURACY.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is now in great popularity because it cures more than ninety-eight out of every hundred cases in which it was correctly used.

One of the important ingredients of this world-famous "Favours Prescription" is

BLUE COHOSH ROOT,

which was in great repute among the American Indians, who used to boil the squaws used it for the relief of their special troubles, particularly for the aching of the pains in the head, calling it "Papaw root." There are four other ingredients in this "Prescription," namely, Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Golden Seal root and Unicorns root.

It Stands Alone not only in re-known composition, but also as the only specific, advertised remedy for woman's disease which absolutely contains no

ALCOHOL.

It Stands Alone as the one medicine for the treatment of a very large class of cases that were being treated by many physicians through ignorance.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE IN CREED

Strides Made Toward Uniting Baptists and Disciples of Christ.

CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

The Rev. I. J. Spencer to Address National Congress in November.

Lexington, Ky., July 6.—The Rev. I. J. Spencer, pastor of the Central Christian church (or Disciples of Christ), the term used by members of this denomination, will accept an invitation to address the National Baptist Congress, to be held in Chicago November 10 to 12, upon the subject, "What definite Steps Should be Immediately Taken Toward the Union of Baptists, Free Baptists and Disciples of Christ." Other speakers representing the first two denominations also will discuss the topic, and it is expected that the discussion will result in a long stride toward the union of the two denominations—Baptists and Disciples of Christ, the first step of which was taken two years ago. At the National Congress of Disciples, in Indianapolis, in March, 1906, by invitation Dr. E. Y. Mullins, president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, of Louisville, and Mr. Spencer discussed the topic: "What Does the New Testament Teach Concerning the Doctrine of the Remission of Sins?" One session of the congress was given entirely to the addresses.

The similarity of the teachings of the denominations on vital points aroused great enthusiasm. This gave rise to the suggestion that through committees the two denominations might learn as exactly as possible are their denominational differences. Acting upon the suggestion, the congress appointed a committee of ten, with Mr. Spencer chairman, and invited the appointment of a committee of equal number from the Baptists, with Dr. Mullins chairman. Since that time the heads of committees have held frequent conferences and consultations.

The original drafts of the statements have been completed and are before the members of the committee for suggestions. When finally revised these statements will be given wide publicity through the religious press, and in the course of time will come before the congress of the denominations. Neither of the denominations has a governing ecclesiastical body, each congregation being a separate authoritative unit. Consequently these committees cannot act authoritatively for their respective denominations, and their reports will contain no recommendation. Each will set forth the doctrinal teachings of that denomination. The rough drafts show that they are surprisingly alike. When this is known through publication the belief is held that in a spirit of fraternity and desire for unity the denominations will waive minor differences and merge congregations, acting as individuals, yet probably in concert, pursuant to a recommendation from their congresses. In Western Canada Disciples and Baptists have already united, are using churches in common and share things alike.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

NOBLE WORDS BOLDLY SPOKEN

Society of Equity Goes Squarely on Record
As Did the Planters Protective Association Last August.

BOTH FARMER'S ORGANIZATIONS STAND FOR LAW AND ORDER.

Preceding the able speech of Senator Campbell Cantrill Monday, the Society of Equity adopted the following resolutions at the business session in the morning.

Mr. Cantrill's speech, a synopsis of which was given in Tuesday's Kentuckian, was along the same line as set out in the fifth resolution.

We endorse and commend the careful reading of all the declarations put forth in these strong declarations of this worthy organization of farmers.

THE RESOLUTIONS.

1. Resolved, that the thanks and gratitude of the county union, A. S. of E., is hereby expressed to the First National Bank of Hopkinsville for their spirit of liberality in furnishing our salesmen funds to make advances on our tobacco and while we realize money has been stringent, we realize they have been liberal and have enabled us to market and hold our crop. This has been done in the face of one of the worst money panics ever known to our people.

2. We hereby express our confidence in our salesmen, H. H. Abernathy, and we can say truthfully, he has handled our tobacco satisfactorily, weighing correctly, prizing and selling in the best approved manner, and paying promptly for all tobacco sold. We have full confidence in his ability and judgment as a tobacco man and heartily recommend him to members of the A. S. of E.

3. We feel justly proud of our record this year in selling tobacco at full market price and heartily recommend our organization to growers. We are grateful for the many expressions of kindness and wishes of success expressed by people not members of our order. We have full confidence in the buyers who have patronized our organization and promise our best endeavors to keep our tobacco business up to the high standard it has attained.

4. We express our thanks to and our confidence in our graders and officers generally who, by their strict attention to business, have shown their faith in the order and have conducted their business in a highly satisfactory manner.

5. We denounce as detrimental to the best interests of our order all lawlessness, and especially night riding, and recommend to our membership strict compliance with the laws of our land and we promise to use our best efforts in upholding our laws and seeing to their enforcement whenever in our power.

6. We respectfully invite and urge all farmers who have not pooled to pool their crops with us and we promise our best efforts to protect their interests.

The Planters Association.
To show that the Society of Equity does not stand alone in its advocacy of law, we herewith give the resolutions adopted August 20, 1907, by the county committee of the Protective Association.

"We, the Christian county committee of the Dark Tobacco Planters Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, in regular meeting assembled, hereby command Governor Patterson and Governor Beckham for the action they have heretofore taken to suppress the dreaded night rider and to bring to justice each offender of the law and to rid the State of the disgrace that has thus been brought upon her people, and hereby offer to the Governor of Kentucky our support in suppressing lawlessness and crime of every nature, and as a means of stamping out the crimes committed in various sections, we hereby call upon the Governor of Kentucky to co-operate with the various district and county officers in an effort to apprehend and convict the guilty parties.

The Dark Tobacco Protective Association believes in the maintenance of law and order. It has on all occasions discontenanced and condemned the violations of law. Its leaders and officers, and its members are among the best people of our land. The organization, its officers and membership, stand ready to assist and co-operate with the officers of the law in ferreting out the guilty parties and bringing them to a speedy trial."

Organizations whose members stand for such principles as these deserve to succeed—and will succeed if the good people in them will, as they have pledged themselves to do, co-operate with the officers of the law, with law and order leagues and with every possible influence for good citizenship, and not allow unwise leaders to destroy the purposes of the organizations.

We are glad to see the two organizations united in Christian country as advocates of law and order, in spite of publications made from time to time to array the organizations against those who would assist them in carrying out their expressed principles. We are also pleased to see that they are not antagonizing each other, but have joined issues in the one supreme purpose of getting all of the farmers into one organization or the other.

The Kentuckian stands ready to assist, without money and without cost, in bringing about this result. It stands today where it has stood for thirty years—on the side of the farmers. It has its files to prove that it has steadily, consistently and always advocated both the Association and the Society of Equity, or any similar organization to benefit the people.

Now that the victory is won and everybody is for the same principles of law and order and peace and harmony, there can be no further fear of trouble in Christian county, no matter what may happen in other parts of the State.

The best people on earth live in this grand old county of Christian. It is the invader and the interloper who need to be guarded against.

NIGHT TURNED TODAY IN LONDON

Wonderful Phenomena Are Experienced in Prolonged ed Light.

DARKNESS IS ABSENT.
Scientists Cannot Agree as to the Cause for the Unusual Conditions.

London, July 6.—London is talking about the wonderful phenomena of the last three nights. It is usually pitch dark in London, even in midsummer, soon after 8 o'clock, but since Wednesday there has been hardly any night at all. It has been almost as bright as day up till 10 and 11. At midnight the sky has been clear enough to read without the aid of artificial light and some correspondents have been writing newspapers telling how they have been able to play tennis up till 10:45, while away over the north of London the sky at midnight and all night through has not lost the afterglow of sunset, retaining the beautiful light of green, gold and red until sunrise.

LIKE SCOTTISH NIGHT
In the north of Scotland it never really dark in midsummer, but none can recall such a remarkable phenomena so far south as London. Some people in alarm rang on the telephones for the fire stations, reporting a big fire raging in North London.

It is reported in the papers that the midsummer sun has been remarkably pronounced in Lancashire. The results have been of a most picturesque character. At New Brighton, which is known as the bedroom of Liverpool, the scenes were unprecedented, hundreds of more prosperous people having residences overlooking the river, held garden parties until as late as 3 o'clock in the morning, when the sun became too hot and retired to rest before going to town on business.

SPEND NIGHT IN HILLS
At Brighton there are two miles of gorse-covered hillocks. Crowds of young men and women preferred spending the nights there rather than indoors, the atmosphere was so delightful in the soft light. After midnight the shimmering water was alive with bathers and the air filled with the music of young laughter. But the results were generally most demoralizing to business, as most of the men having spent the night in the open were not much good for work in the hot daytime.

In Scotland there has been no darkness at all since Tuesday, an extraordinary occurrence. Night trains running over the Grampian Hills without lights are reported for the first time on record. Scientists, as usual, differ as to the explanation for the phenomena. For a while some fell in with the common view that the northern lights are the aurora borealis generally associated with the land of the midnight sun. Others disagree. They say similar phenomena may have been ascribed to volcanic eruptions on previous occasions, but at present there is no unusual disturbance of the earth's surface to connect with the display.
